THE ADAMS STORY AS YOU LIVED IT

1954-1955

Most stories have one author. The Adams Story has hundreds. You, the students of John Adams, began writing it the moment you apprehensively entered the doors in September. Every experience, every hour and day added one more word, one more line, one more page to the story.

A story is a complex thing. It contains much joy, but also some sorrow, because it is Life put on paper. So the Adams Story, your story, is a mixture of many different feelings: the anticipation the freshmen felt in September on confronting the bewildering experience of high school, the remembrances that haunted the seniors as they guided the freshmen around Adams on Sho-Ya-Roun' Day. Then came the excitement of the senior class political campaign and elections, and the stage fright of the actors in the all-school play, "Romancers." There was the joy of cheering your football team through their best season. There was the tragedy of losing your friends Sue Hawk, Don Kristl, and Max Orth. There was the silent reverence you experienced at the Christmas and Easter assemblies, and the fun you had making and putting up Christmas decorations for the halls.

With your fun, you worked too. What senior doesn't know that sleepy-eyed trance which comes from reading a week's soci papers on Sunday night?

You grew socially as well as intellectually, writing the pages of the Coronation Ball, Booster Club Dad's Night, Adams Eve, Sophomore Shag, and Froshindig. After Sectionals the seniors got busy with the Student Directory. The new Thespian troupe and the glee club helped in "Pilgrim's Progress." There was another round of social events after the hilarious but educational Detroit and soci trips. You wrote the star studded pages of Penthouse Serenade, Spring Spree and the Senior Prom. Finally there were Student Council elections and the dizzy round of graduation activities.

Yes, your story grew as you lived and wrote it, line by line. Some of the things you wish you could erase, like cribbing on that exam or skipping classes; but you know that those

The story of our football season would be incomplete without our drum majorettes who, stepping high, lead the band, the students and the team to their best season. After long hours of rehearsing formations in the sun, rain and cold, it's a hoppy interlude to pose for a camera in the sheltered wormth of the Little Theater.

The senior class political campaign left its mark deep in Adams, from the ground-in cookie crumbs from Ann Bruner's "Vote For A Good Cookie" slogan, to the dizzily strewn chairs and floors worn by hundreds of marching feet.

things are also part of your story because you lived it that way. The story you wrote was an adventure story, of being caught up in the tide of clubs, athletics and social life; a love story, the mingled emotions of going steady; and the story of a quest, to understand your place in the world.

People usually think of plays as being mostly acting but, as the kids who worked backstage for "Romancers" learned, it's mostly muscles. Here venerable old Samson Dincolo, makeup still on, sets up a pillar for the next act.

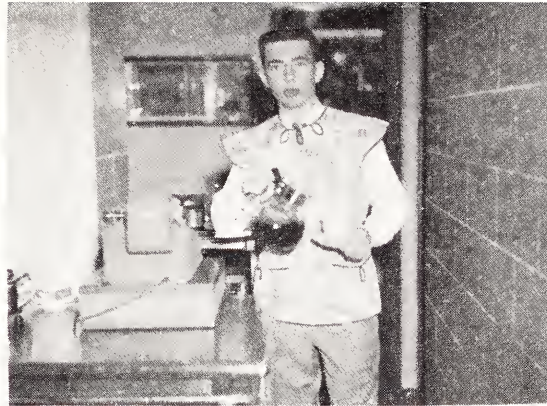

Soci just wouldn't be Soci without the trip. After a long, hard day tramping around Chicago everyone's dead tired, tired enough to laugh hilariously at nothing and to play baseball with a fountain pen.

STORY

As you grew, your story grew. From the beginning of your freshman year to the time you graduated, your interests had broadened. You did your best to promote worldwide understanding among men by sending three of your friends abroad—Naomi, Kent,

"Coffee, anyone?" asks Bill Waechter, experienced gourmet and trusted head cashier in the cafeteria. (Hearing no reply, he may fill the cup and drink it himself, forgetting to ring it up.)??

The Adams Story isn't all laughs, most of it's just hard work. We come to school for a reason, with a responsibility to ourselves and the people who put us here, to learn and to prepare for adult competence. Here at the leadership banquet sit the people who guide our school activities, discussing how to become better leaders, and through that effort to make our school a better place.

"I, Roquefort Root, do solemnly swear to tell almost the whole truth and almost nothing but de truf. So help me, Amos Alonzo." The soci trial was deadlocked! At last came the star witness with devastating evidence. "Yup, I seen dis yere Jerry Badger, he went in behind Ruby Red's Tavern where I was sleepin' on a pile of leaves. He had time to set de arson!"

"Happy Birthday, dear Mr. Seeley, Happy Birthday to you," sang the World History class as it presented a fluffy cake with delicious icing to the handsome World History teacher at Adams, Mr. Seeley.

"Make a point, make a point and another point," yell the cheerleaders. "Make a point, make a point and another point," echo the students. And the Adams five sinks another against Central, our traditional rival.

The Coronation of a Queen at the Adams-Riley game. Excitement rides at fever pitch and a muffled roar rises from the crowd as Kent Keller takes the crown, walks toward the court of candidates and places it upon the head of Pat Bourdon, the Adams Queen.

and Bill, by raising money to bring an exchange student to Adams, and by aiding two Korean orphans. Yes, perhaps you were outgrowing the walls of Adams, the limits of this year, the covers of your Adams Story.

And so, as you came, you go away to write your own individual stories,

The senior cabinet, led by Don Smith as class president, may be found most Wednesday afternoons in Mrs. McClure's room efficiently carrying through fund raising drives and busily planning senior class activities such as the Prom and the Picnic.

In the female version of the sectional basketball tourney, the Adams Eaglettes edge ahead of the St. Joe Squaws as Judy Cobb sinks another basket to raise the Adams lead to 98-0.

with a little bit of longing for the past, happy memories to carry into the future, and a great amount of gratitude to those people who have guided your hands in writing and living the Adams Story.

With this year, 1955, your chapter

1955 gave birth to new steps like the mombo, but the old ones were still favorites. Here Carl Lang and Nancy Champagne make it a duo for Night Train.

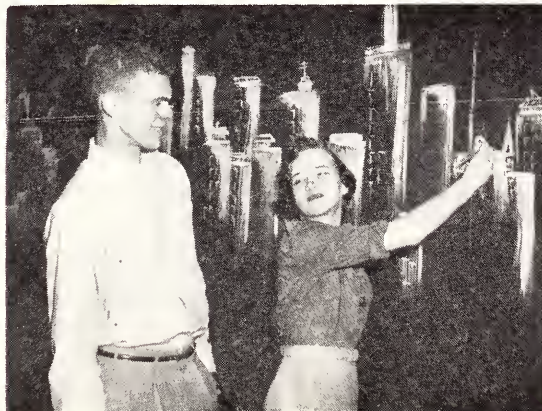

The Has Beens, dressed in bloomers and middy blouses, relax confidently before the game on Adams Eve. Their confidence was shattered, however, when the Will Be's won by one point, by virtue of their own strength and Mr. Reber's time clock tomfoolery.

As the spotters stand engrossed around the sides of the trampoline, Barbara Waechter, an Adams entrant in the Gym Shaw, flies through the air with the greatest of ease.

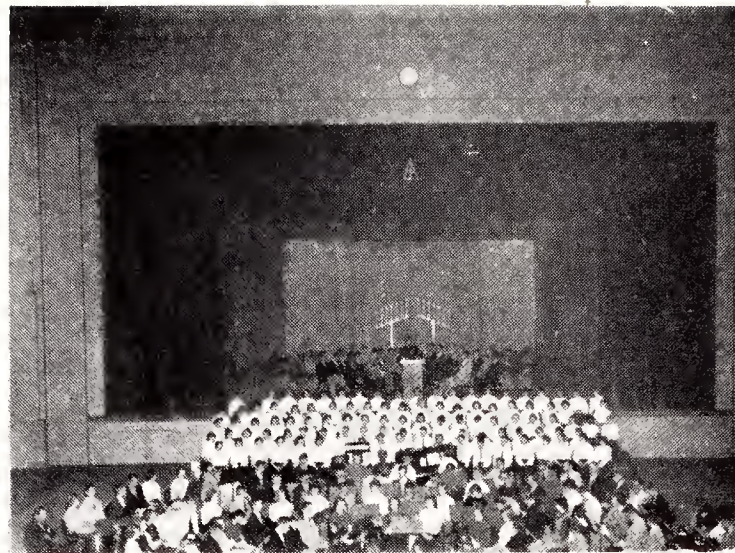

Jack Venderly and Lynne Lackman add the final touches to a penthouse on the skyscraper backdrop for Penthouse Serenade.

Johnnie Robbins lends a helping hand to Mr. Strength as he attempts to send the Strength-o-meter dollar mark to the goal for the Korean Orphan Drive.

At the time of Easter and Passover, the Hi-Y conducts an assembly and adds a page to our story, a page wherein we, as the trees are reborn in spring, rededicate ourselves to that higher purpose for which we were created.

ends, but there are many others being written now and many others yet to be begun. The Adams Story will continue. Every experience, every hour and day will add one more word, one more line, one more page to the story you began, to the Adams Story As You Lived It.

Laughter bubbles up from our story. The first soci trip was full of it. In spite of cold noses, misplaced purses and sore feet, no one was too far gone to "smile pretty."

Dave Freedberg sits, the personification of agony, suffering from the fatal combination of Senior-A-itis and Spring Fever.

IN MEMORIAM

Donald Le Roy Kristl died on June 9, 1954, while swimming with friends in the St. Joseph River near the Mishawaka Eberhart-Petro Golf Course. Don was born in South Bend on November 7, 1938.

He attended Jefferson and Nuner Schools and at the time of his death, he had just finished his freshman year at John Adams. Don was a member of Mr. Roop's home room 111 and was Tower representative for his class. He was an active participant on the freshman football team and the wrestling and track teams of Adams.

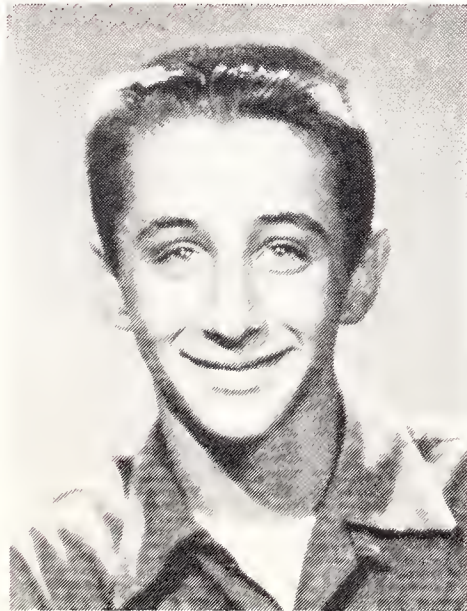

Don, an only child, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Kristl.

On November 12, 1954 Suz Ann Hawk collapsed and died while attending a Little Theater dance honoring the 1954 football team.

Sue was born in South Bend on December 13, 1936. She attended Perley and Jefferson elementary schools until September, 1951, when she enrolled at John Adams.

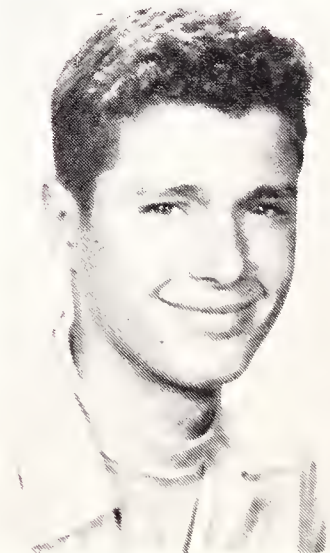

Although Sue was active in many school activities, she was best known as the cheerleader whose school spirit became a part of everyone with whom she came in contact. It is for this reason that she will always be remembered . . . wearing her cheerleading uniform and proudly leading the school.

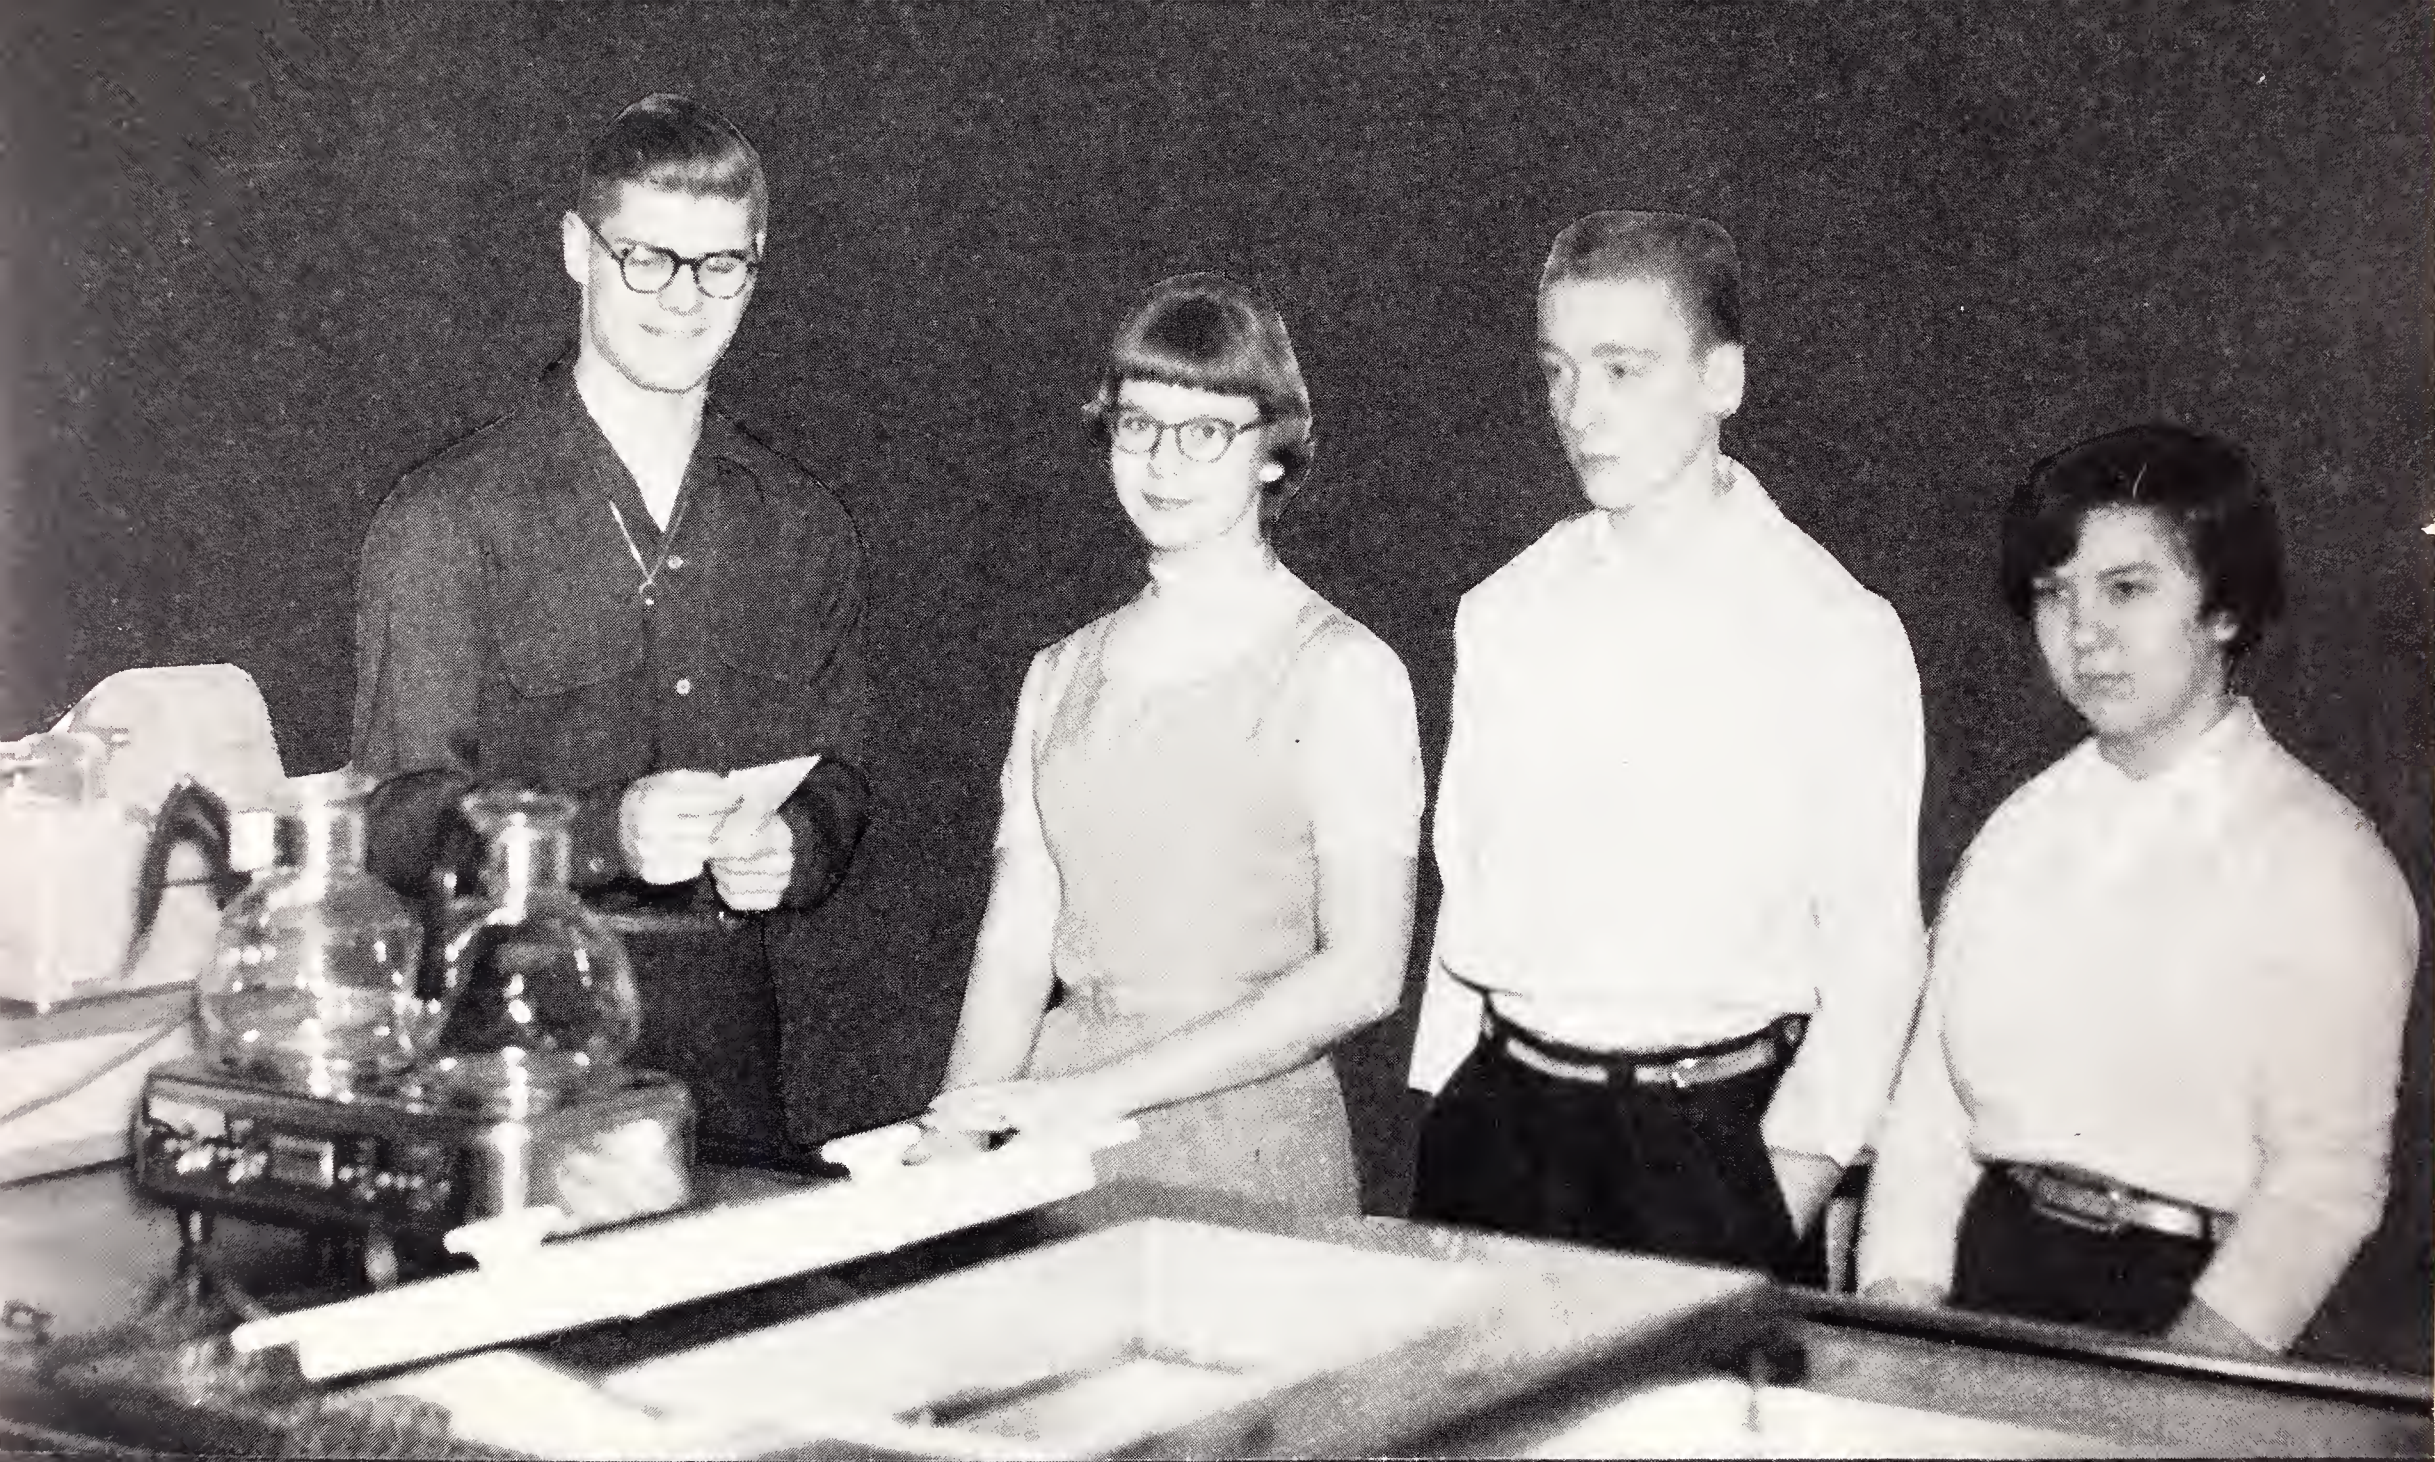

Max La Verne Orth died August 12, 1954, when a tractor he was driving overturned on a farm near LaPorte, Indiana. He was born July 12, 1938, in Moulton, Iowa, and came to South Bend from Michigan City, Indiana, in November of 1953.

Max had completed his freshman year at John Adams as a member of Mr. Rensberger's home room 210. Before attending our school, he had earned his letter in both track and football at Elston High School, Michigan City.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Orth, two younger sisters, Barbara and Marva, and a brother, Jack.

"The Lineup," Council Board: Mr. Thompson, Mary Ann Anderson, Tom Troeger, Janice Rugee, Bob Nelson, Naomi Ross, John Waechter, Nancy MacIvor, and Jim Dincolo.

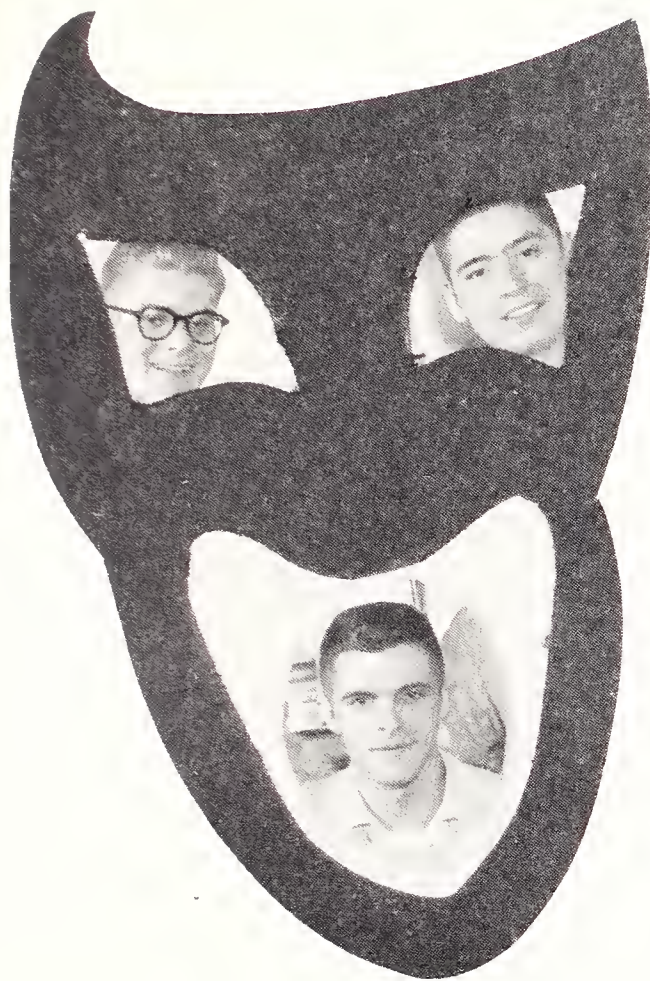

- Student Council is the representative governing body of our school which helps promote better student-teacher relations. Among its many projects this year were a number of "firsts" — "Share Their Fare," the Leadership Training Clinic, exchange meetings with city student councils, honor study hall, and a banquet for straight A students. Other events sponsored by council were Hi-Ya Week, Show-Ya-Round, and the Korean Orphan Drive.

DRAMA CLUB

In the traditional mask of the dramatic arts are officers Kent Keller, James Dincalo, and Robert Nelson.

- The Drama Club was formed to acquaint interested students with the many phases of play production. A comedy, "The Romancers," was this year's fall production. This spring the group joined the city glee clubs for the musical presentation, "Pilgrim's Progress." Members took a trip to Chicago during January to see "The King and I." General meetings are held in the Little Theater where various programs of dramatic interest are presented.

Other charter members of the Thespian group examining a new play are, seated: Anne Bruner, Naomi Shulman, Nancy MacIvor, Nancy Armstrong, Janet Galba, Susie Frehse, Mary Horning, Joan Jacobs, and Charles Bowman, and standing, Naomi Rass, Bob Nelson, James Haehn, and Kent Keller.

THESPIANS

- The National Thespian Society is a dramatic honorary group devoted to the advancement of dramatic arts in the secondary schools. The twenty-eight charter members of Troupe No. 1464 were initiated in February. Qualifications for membership are based on a system of points given for participation in dramatic activity.

The boys' quartet and girls' Triple Trio grouped around the piano are: Helen Williams, Barbara Neff, Charmian Burke, Linda Heltger, Gwen Garwood, Kenneth Papp, John Caffman, Robert Nelson, Jim Dincolo, Connie Schuler, Janet Galba, Nancy MacIvor, and Karen Hobart.

• Under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence T. Pate, the Glee Club is a busy organization. The results of many hours of practice are enjoyed by the public as well as the school. This year's schedule included such events as the North Central concert, Christmas assembly, and Candlelight Vesper Services. In the spring the Glee Club in conjunction with the three other city high schools presented "Pilgrim's Progress." Participation in the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises will bring the year's activities to a close.

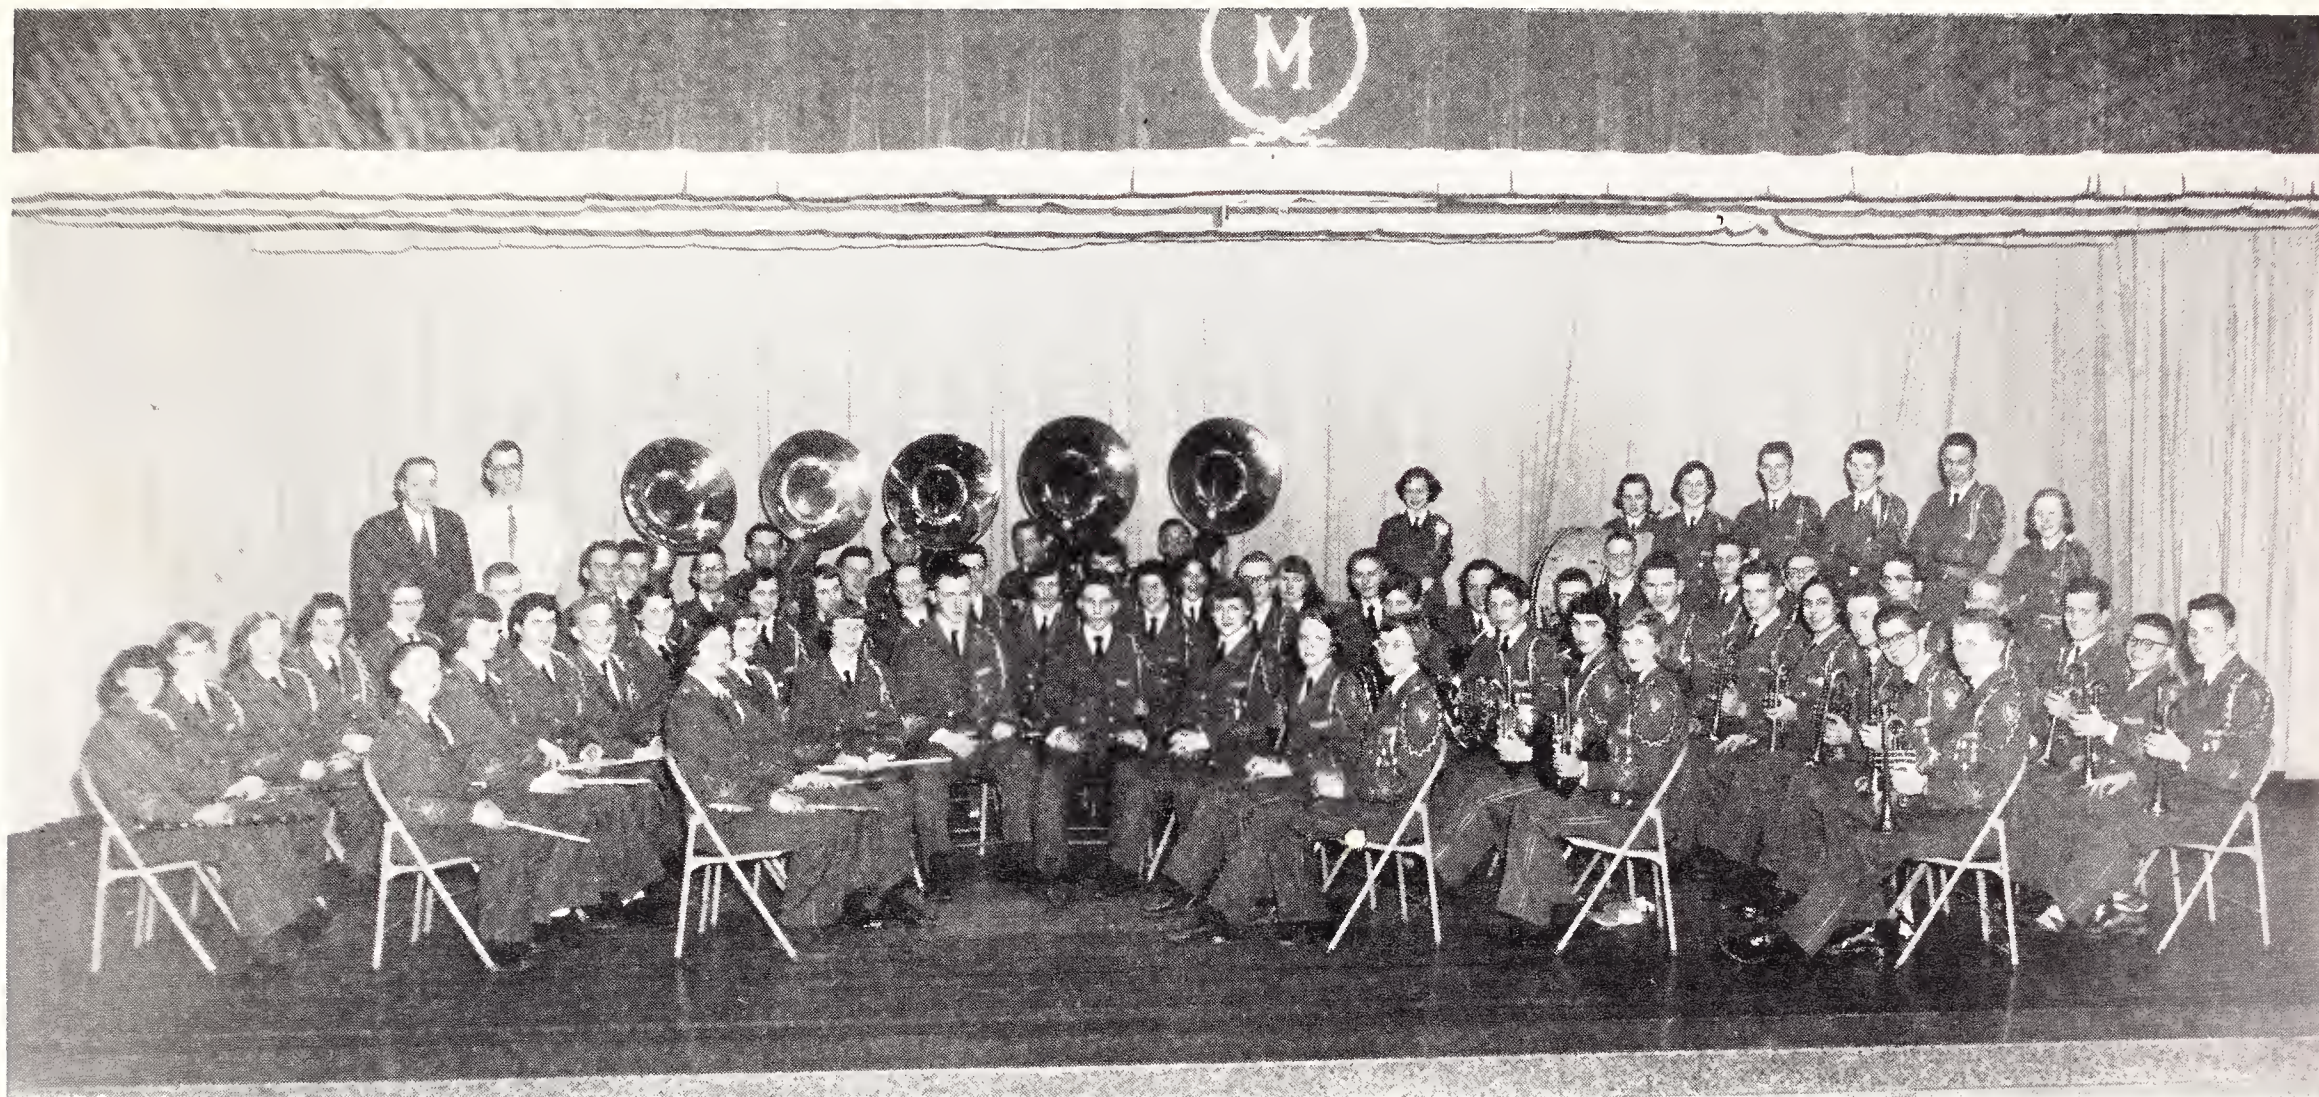

The Prep Glee Club, consisting of 122 members, assisted the Senior Glee Club in the Christmas program and sang in the Hi-Y Easter Service. Edward Bryleski is the group's president.

These girls accompany the Glee Club. They are: Carol Hertel, Ruth Jones, Carol Weldy, and Karen Jones.

BAND

- The Band has had another successful year beginning with the Mardi Gras Festival at Riverview Park and the back-to-school assembly. Also on the schedule were marching at football games and in parades with drum majorette Marlene Olson, playing at pep assemblies and basketball games, sending representatives to solo and ensemble contests, and concerts at various schools including Adams. At the State Band Contest held at Fort Wayne, April 16, the band won a first division rating.

And in the bass clef sign we have:
Sharon Lee, Robert Badger, and Donald Smith.

• During the year the Orchestra gave assemblies at various junior high schools, gave an assembly at Adams, participated in the combined high school orchestra for the North Central Teachers' Association, went with the All-City Orchestra to play in Cleveland, played in the South Bend Instrumental Festival, and competed and won a first rating in the State Contest, April 16. In the top picture are director Mrs. Phyllis Wampler and orchestra members who played in the solo and ensemble contest.

"Note" the following: Sue Carlson, Jerry Lupton, and Morlene Olson.

Thumbing through the often used files are Yvonne Papp, Darlene Jankowski, Sharon Hartman, Frances Davis, and Barbara Liggett.

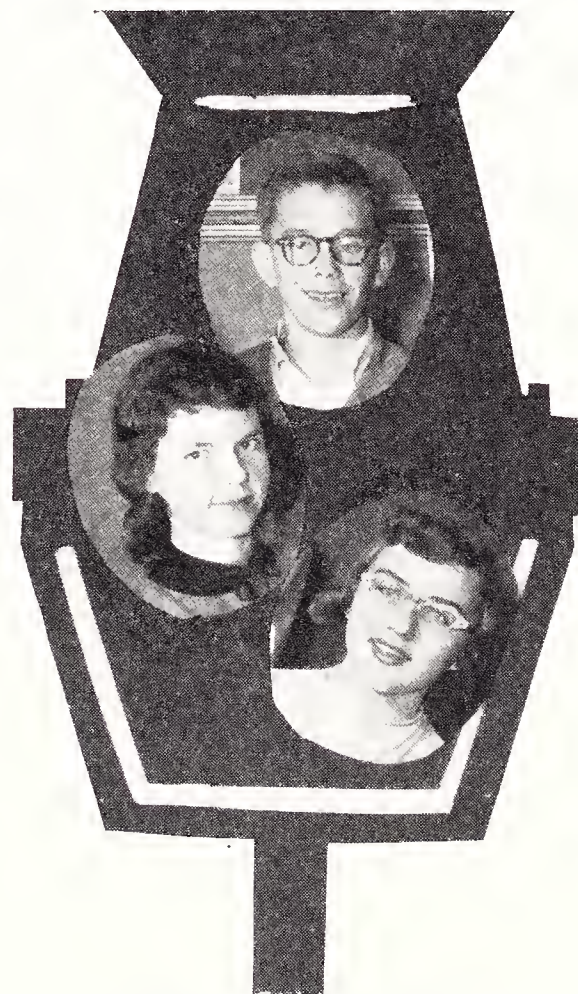

Let's try a practice debate. John Litweiler, Doris Goldstein, Gayle Heyn, Ronnie Miller, and Dennise Grimshaw are ready.

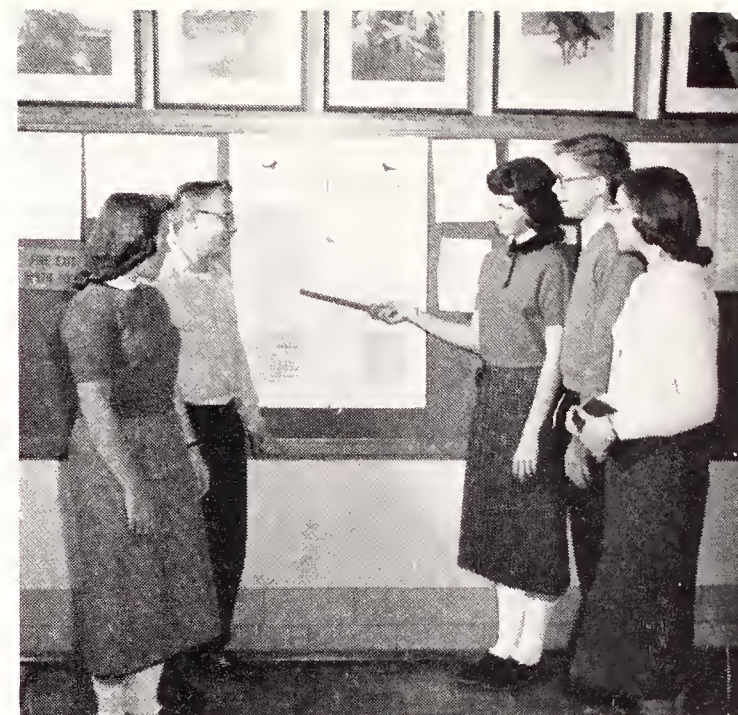

Joan Jacobs cautions Bonnie Hewitt on her timing while "Judge" Mary Horning looks on.

• Debate Club members have many activities throughout the year including extemporaneous speeches, round table discussions, and a trip to the Debate Conference at Purdue University. To finish the season the club has a banquet and after-dinner speaking contest. This year our team ranked third in the St. Joseph Valley Conference debating the issue: Resolved that the Federal Government should adopt a policy of free trade among friendly nations.

DEBATE CLUB

The officers indicate a point which might be used by the affirmative or negative to Carol Hertel, and Bill James.

Mr. Goldsberry, club sponsor, helps seniors Mike Phillips, Nancy MacIvor, Naomi Shulman and Jim Dincolo with that debater's aid, the card file.

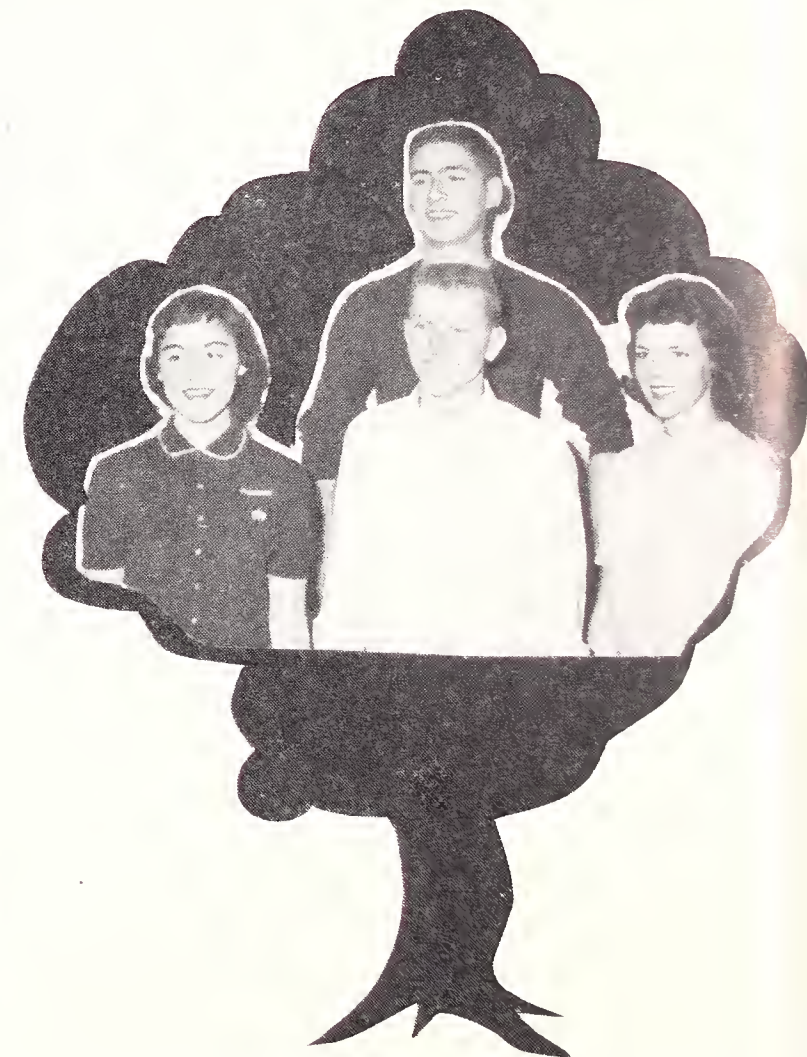

Can you spot Indiano's best girl scientist? She's Nancy MacIvor, 9th from the right in the front row.

Charlie the lion, formerly of the Pottowattami Zoo, watches Walton's sponsor, Mr. Litweiler, tell the club of their "It's for the birds" project.

- The Adams Walton League was organized as a conservation and social club for all students who are interested in activities of the outdoors. Such projects as reforestation, fishing, preserving of wild life, and the annual trip to the Indiana Junior Academy of Science are only a few of their numerous activities.

In one of the trees they're trying to preserve are officers: Jim Dincolo, Sandra Weldy, Bob Badger, and Jonet Golbo.

JUNIOR WALTONS

- For girls interested in a nursing career, the Future Nurse's Club is a new Adams activity to meet their needs. The group has heard talks by various people in the medical profession, visited several area hospitals, and joined other county Future Nurse's Clubs in a trip to Indianapolis.

In the Florence Nightingale lamp are officers: Nancy Thompson, Mary Quealy, Beth Musser, and Ruth Janes.

What's in that bottle, girls? Jane Weidler, Linda Wiener, and Pat Barker examine it while sponsor Mrs. Chamberlain watches Mary Quealy take Beth Musser's temperature. Sandy Mitchell, Ruth Jones and Nancy Thompson give advice.

- The main project of the Junior Red Cross Council is the annual Christmas seal drive in December. This year for the first time, an assembly was presented to give the student body better understanding about Christmas seals, their history and use. There are two representatives from each home room on the Council.

- The Monagram Club is open to any boy who has won a monogram sweater for his participation in a sport. Its purpose is to create better sportsmanship and school spirit. The club sponsors the awards assemblies and the annual "Sock Hop." Also, it presents a trophy to the most valuable player in football, basketball, baseball, and track.

• The John Adams Booster Club was organized to promote pride and enthusiasm in all our athletic activities and to help the students become a more unified student body. This year the club sponsored a dance honoring the football team, an after-game dance following the Auburn game, and Father's Night honoring the fathers of our basketball players.

TOWER

Naomi Ross interviews some Adamites. It might be for "Question of the Week," "Eagle of the Week," or the latest news story.

• Our weekly news sheet is prepared by a staff of students interested in journalism. Special editions of the Tower are published at Christmas time, on April 1st, and at the end of the year when the Senior Issue is written. The various departments have the following duties: script — writing news items, sports events, and feature articles; circulation — folding papers on the morning of publication and distributing the paper to school board members, advertising solicitors, other schools, and subscribers not attending Adams; advertising — obtaining ads and copy from South Bend merchants.

Then the story goes to the staff below who plot it on a dummy, count words and spaces, and put out another Tower. Left to right are Miss Roell, sponsor, and Mary Benn, Janice Rugee, Wendy Heron, Mary Ellen Rosenthal, Marvin West, and Chuck Christman.

Assignments for articles are made on Friday. Mary Ann Anderson has found one on the bulletin board in 207.

ALBUM

- We on the Album staff hope that this year's Album will accurately represent the Adams Story as you lived it in 1954 and 1955.

Mr. Carroll, sponsor, inspects a sample page with Nancy MacIvor, Larry Rex, Marilyn Enfield, and Maureen Frank.

Co-club editors Diane Allman and Naomi Ross ask Kathy De Leury and Mardi Kline for suggestions.

Looking through an old Album for ideas for this edition are Pat Baurdan, Nancy Armstrong, Dave Freedberg, Elaine Brown, and Jim Hoehn.

Pasting class pictures on a sheet to be sent to the engravers are: Judy Cobb, Pat Wilson, Mary Ann Anderson, Sharon Reber, and Susie Frehse.

Editor-in-chief, Margaret Sue Reed, surveys doings in the "little back room back o' 101" from her post in the paste pot.

FOOTBALL

- The 1955 Adams football team compiled the best record in the school's history. The tough nine-game schedule was marred only by a loss to Riley's conference champs and a tie, in the mud, with Central's gridmen.

Sparked by Captain Terry Heater and hard charging Larry Van Dusen, the Eagles swept past seven opponents while on their way to ranking in the top ten of the state's football powers.

The gridgers started the season in a blaze of glory by sweeping past Gary Lew Wallace, Mishawaka, and LaPorte in succession. The middle third of the schedule caused the team their most trouble with only a win over Portage Township to show along with the above mentioned Riley and Central games. Showing a late season surge, the Eagles looked brilliant at times in defeating Michigan City and Elkhart before closing the campaign with a hard fought, 13 to 0 triumph over city rival, St. Joseph.

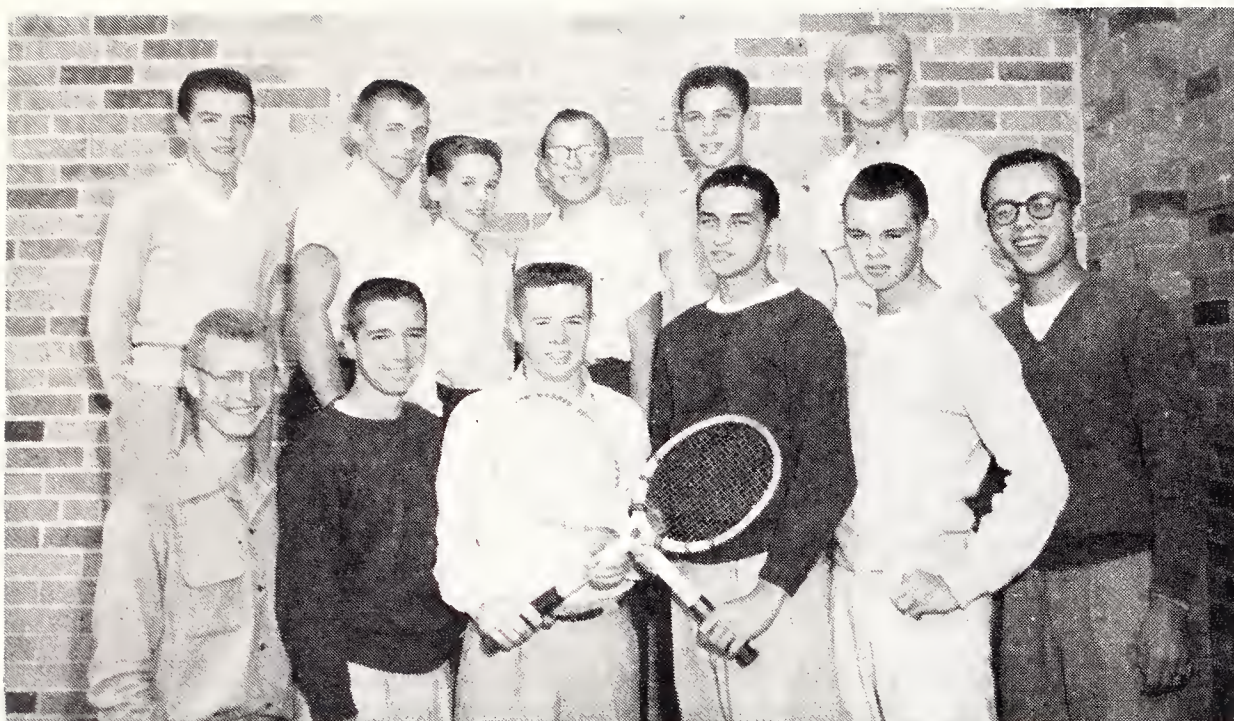

Although several key men are lost from this year's squad, there are several returning lettermen who, when mixed with the upcoming B-team members and with the addition of some promising players from this year's fine Freshman team, promise to form the nucleus of another very fine ball club in 1956.

 Second Row: Fisher, Stackhouse, Christ, Wilson, Bandurski, Downs.

• This year's tennis team led by Captain Chuck Christman, Dave Freedberg, Tim Pettit, and Dick Green experienced a disappointing 4 won, 4 lost season, the highlight of which was a 4 to 1 triumph over conference champs Ft. Wayne North.

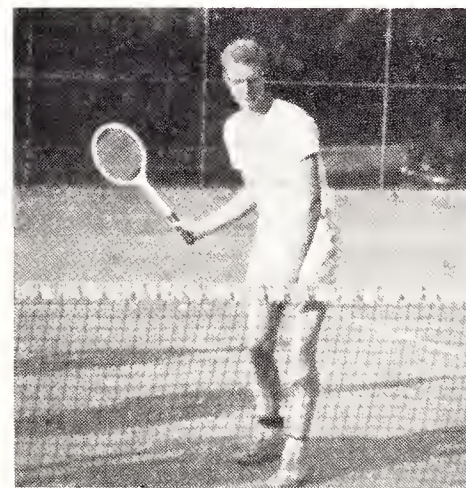

The city championship which had been in Adams' possession for quite some time was lost when the Eagles fell in a hard fought match against Central, but the netmen continued their mastery over their other city rival, Riley, with a convincing win.

CROSS COUNTRY

• The Adams harriers, with a team composed mainly of inexperienced underclassmen, won only one meet last year, but the season was a success from the standpoint of showing the sparkling ability of Pete Smith and Chuck De-Craene, the captain, both of whom will be back next year.

With a year of experience in competitive running, those returning next year will have the ability to form a team which will represent Adams in victorious style.

BASKETBALL

- Coach Warren Seaborg although lacking a "big Gun" in his scoring attack, developed a well balanced team based around the hard driving of Larry Van Dusen, Johnny Robbins, and Dick Green.

Although there was no set starting five throughout the year any of the nine players, who saw most of the action, was able to be a solid scoring threat at any given time.

The highlight of the year was a methodical dissecting of Ft. Wayne North Side, one of the state's leading powers and a participant in the "Final Four" at Indianapolis. As the gun sounded the end of this game the Eagles found themselves on the long end of the score by a whopping thirty points.

At the year's end Dick Green was named the most valuable player, Larry Van Dusen was awarded the captain's star, and John Waechter gathered in the coveted Kiwanis Award.

Kiwanis Award Winner, John Waechter.

First Row: Gearhart, McKinney, Mack.
Second Row: Vanderbosch, Hoffman.

B-TEAM BASKETBALL PREP

Front Row: Messick, B. Fischer, Turner, Alford, Dowdy, Cates.
Second Row: Chriest, Krape, R. Swanson, Downs, Getzinger, Hirou, Petzke.
Third Row: West, Wiseman, Williams, Kaiser, J. Fenimore, Bock.

Second Row: Harris, Caron, Grady, Eichorst, L. Smith.
Third Row: Rachels, Walker, Parker, Rowe.

- The B and Freshman teams both compiled winning records this year under the guidance of Mr. Rensberger and Mr. Hunter. Adams this year came up with several fine ball players in its "farm system" and with their addition to the varsity, head coach Seaborg, can look to the future with a very optimistic point of view.

WRESTLING

- 1955 will be remembered as the year that wrestling came of age as an Adams sport. With the balance of the scoring resting on the broad shoulders of Captain Don Quimby, Terry Heater, and mighty mite Larry Hogan, the Eagles developed rapidly as a squad and highlighted their season with a 54 to 0 shellacking of Goshen.

Cooch Murphy

Captain Quimby established himself as one of the better wrestlers in the state at 165 lbs. with a sectional championship and a trip to Bloomington, where he competed in the state championship field, winning his first match but losing his next to the eventual champion of that weight class.

Outstanding Wrestler, Don Quimby.

- This year's golf team under the direction of a new coach, Mr. Kaeppler, promises to be a very capable representative of sports at John Adams. Although the team lost several key men through graduation there is a great potential present in the form of experienced seniors and eager underclassmen.

As the season's opener rapidly approaches, the outlook looks very bright for a successful, winning record.

Mikesell and Henson: always on the links.

Kneeling: Green, Edgerton, Vanderheyden, Klowetter, Gibboney, Malcolm, and Robbins.
 Standing: Wickizer, MacGregor, Nelson, Menzie, Magnuson, Harris, Stoton, Sexson, Rothermel, Severeid, and Vargo.

- After finishing no lower than second in the E.N.I.H.S.C. for the last three years, the '55 version of the John Adams baseball team looks as though they are going to go right on with their winning ways.

The team is built around an all-veteran infield which features Joe Vanderheyden at first, Bob Klowetter at second, Captain Dick Gibboney at short, fiery Keith Malcolm at third, and Paul Edgerton behind the bat.

With Coach Swartz capably guiding the experienced aggregation the season holds many surprises for unprepared opponents.

- This year as in the past we of Adams owe much to our cheerleaders. When we were discouraged, they were able to lead us on to winning performances with their "never say die" spirit.

There is much work that is done by our cheerleaders that we don't see, but by their practice and ungrudging giving of their free time they have turned themselves into one of the finest combinations we have seen.

Our hats are off to the cheerleaders of Adams!

ADAMS STUDENTS, TAKE HEED

These patrons of ours have proved to be real Adams boosters. Without their loyal backing and assistance we would have no Album to record the activities and memories of our high school days. So, take heed and patronize those who have helped you.
